What Now?

Luke 5:1-11

By: David Kajiwara

1. Jesus meets us where we are (Luke 5:1-11)

This is one of the first interactions that Peter has with Jesus and it results in a huge catch of fish. And Jesus wants him then to be fishers not of fish, but of men.

2. Jesus continues to meet us where we are (John 21:1-7)

Easter Sunday came, but the disciples still were not sure about all that happened.

3. Jesus heals us where we are (John 21:15-17)

So there they are on the beach, having some fish with Jesus.

"Do you love me?" Jesus asks Peter. And as I often say at church and in my bible studies, when Jesus asks a question, it isn't because he doesn't know the answer. No. It's for us. Because it is after this day that Peter will go on to then preach in Acts and hundreds will come to know Jesus.

Application:

What is that area of your life where you need the power of God, the power of his resurrection to bring healing and wholeness and restoration?
